consoled with the owl. Sinners and evil spirits shun the light.—Schiller.

Senator Borah suggests that peace plans and the arguments against war should be directed to European countries rather than discussed in the United States. The senator says there is no question about opposition to war in this country, and points to the fact that twelve European nations, presumably supporters of the peace league, have within the past three years gone to war to settle disputes among themselves. It is very evident that the abolition of wars has not yet been "sold" to all Europe.

If the newspapers will just quit writing stories and telegrams about the endurance dancing contest, this silly craze will soon be over. It is notorious as well as dance honors that is craved.

At any rate the committee which interviewed President Gorman of the Rock Island with reference to buying the C. P. & St. L. received a definite answer. Mr. Gorman indicated that if he acquired the C. P. & St. L. he would acquire it a liability instead of an asset.

Decatur citizens have been endeavoring to secure from the legislature a promise of an armory. Governor Small has discouraged the Decaturites with the statement that there has been a decision to erect no armories during the next two years.

THE CLOVERLEAF COMPANY

Jacksonville citizens who assembled for exercises in connection with the laying of the cornerstone of the new building of the Cloverleaf Life & Casualty Co. were impressed anew with the size of the business that the company is developing. It is safe to say that the average Jacksonville citizen did not realize how large is the group of employees in the home office, nor how extensive the corps of field representatives. The business of the company is growing rapidly and it is a gratifying thing that the officers have definitely determined to maintain the home office here, instead of answering to the lure of some larger city. The erection of this handsome office building is affording substantial proof of the company's faith in Jacksonville, as well as in its own future.

The Cloverleaf Life & Casualty Co. is having its part in the forward movement of Jacksonville and is properly classed as one of the important business concerns of this city.

BERTON BRALEY'S DAILY POEM

A GIFT

By Berton Braley

GIVE the kid a dog and you've furnished him a playmate.
Always true and faithful as can be;
Lover and companion, a loyal night-and-day mate.
Full of warm affection and of glee.
Give the kid a dog, be it airdale, bull or collie,
Ready for a romp or for a jog.
Tail forever wagging in a manner that is jolly—
Give the kid a dog.

GIVE the kid a dog and you've surely given something
Valued more than figures can compute.
Friendship, love and service in the bosom of a dumb thing;
Golden-hearted glamor in a brute!
There's a guide and warder who will free your mind of worry,
One with quick intelligence agog;
Be it mutt or champion, short-haired breed or furry—
Give the kid a dog!

FROM THE GRAVE

NEA
Men who have died (their hearts stopped beating entirely) have occasionally been brought back to life by injecting adrenalin into their hearts. Adrenalin—most powerful heart stimulant, even more so than nitro-glycerin—sometimes can start the heart beating again.

This has been known to the medical profession for 20 years. Improved methods have been discovered by Dr. Dennis W. Crie of Chicago. He makes the announcement to the Chicago Medical society. Similar results were obtained about a month ago by Dr. Karl Bodon of Budapest.

The adrenalin treatment, to be successful, must be applied within ten minutes after death. Also, the cause of death must be removed. To understand that last statement, it should be known that the adrenalin injection is of most use in reviving patients who, having weak hearts, die from the anesthetic during an operation.

Incidentally, a heart that has stopped is sometimes made to beat again by the surgeon using his knife quickly to enable him to massage the heart.

Adrenalin is a chemical substance extracted from the adrenal glands, usually of sheep. These glands are located close to the kidneys. You have a set of them. Take them away and you can't live, for the stimulant generated by the adrenals and shot into the blood keeps the heart going—speaking broadly.

When you get excited, you sometimes feel your heart pounding fast. Your adrenal glands, responding to your emotional change, simply shoot more adrenalin into your blood and over-stimulate your heart. When the adrenals are not active enough, the pulse gets low and faint.

A friend of ours, a hyper-thyroid, went to a doctor who specializes in endocrine glandology. The friend had a pulse of 150. The physician fed him extract of pancreas. This, working through his own pancreatic gland, calmed down his thyroid in his neck. In turn, that slowed down his adrenal glands—and his pulse has been reduced to nearly normal.

An intricate process. It again emphasizes the importance of the discoveries doctors are making about the functions of our glands.

Dr. Crie brings a man back from the grave after he has been dead ten minutes. This ends the old saying: "No one ever died and came back to tell us about it." Most people will wonder, what happened to the man during the 10 minutes he was dead? Where was his soul? No one can answer. A curtain is drawn over his memory of those ten minutes, when he returns to consciousness. Some religious cults believe it takes as much as 24 hours for the soul to leave the body.

BRADEN TO KNOW DATE APRIL 19

Beardstown, April 13.—Orthonell E. Braden, confessed slayer of Clifford C. Gam and Jesse Lowe, Jr., will not know his fate until next Wednesday. Judge Hedgecock at the close of arguments Thursday in the case which has held this community in almost breathless anxiety for days, announced that he would reserve sentence until April 18. The judge said:

"In order to come to a complete decision in this case, as to the penalty that will be best, the court must have some time. I would like to go over the evidence again. I do not believe that anyone not in my position can possibly appreciate to the fullest extent the duty that has developed upon me. The evidence will be transcribed and gone over and weighed fully by the court, and the court will express without fear or favor his honest opinion in the matter and note out what punishment the court deems should be meted out in this case without any thought or regard of the outcome."

Judge Hedgecock then set 2 o'clock in the afternoon of April 18 as the time for passing of final sentence. It is generally believed that Braden's sentence will be either the death penalty or life imprisonment. Evidence at the trial failed to show that Braden was insane at the time of the commission of the double murder and as he plead guilty to the charge, there is nothing left but extent of the punishment.

SPRINGFIELD IS OFFERED CHEAP CURRENT

Springfield, April 13.—An offer of a sixty per cent cut in the cost of street lighting has been made to the city council by the Illinois Power company, headed by A. D. Mackie.

The private company offers to furnish current for street lights at 1 1/2 cents a kilowatt hour. The rate charged by the city plant is 2 1/2 cents a kilowatt hour.

Commissioner Willis J. Spaulding, head of the city electric light department, will oppose the offer on the ground that the company has made the offer with the intention of embarrassing the city.

Working Together For Jacksonville

One reason that Mayor Crabtree has been called upon to make addresses in so many cities, is the fact that the story of Jacksonville's municipal affairs is very unusual. Until he hears it from the lips of informed Jacksonville citizens it is hard for the average man elsewhere to understand how a city government can be operated without secret caucuses and with all the cards on the table.

To think that the affairs of a city have been managed for four years without a strife of any kind or without jealousy among the members of the council is in itself a wonderful thing. The reason can be found in the fact that Mayor Crabtree and those associated with him in the management of city affairs have been dominated with the one idea of service for Jacksonville.

The mayor as the head of the city has set this example of the

"Not what I can get, but what I can give" policy and the result has been the building up of a spirit of co-operation and confidence.

It has been said time and time again that in recent months and years the people of Jacksonville have been working together in a way that was never true before. Not all the credit for this spirit belongs to Mayor Crabtree, but by common consent it will be admitted that he has been a large contributor to this spirit which means so much to Jacksonville.

There is only one thing that can prevent Mayor Crabtree from having a very decisive majority in the election next Tuesday, and that is if many of those who believe and favor him get the idea that there is really no need to vote. Why take the chance? Make it your business to vote next Tuesday and to vote early. The polls will be opened from 7 a. m. to 5 p. m.

INTRAMURAL SPORTS ATTRACT STUDENTS

URBANA, Ill. — Intramural sports attract many students at the University of Illinois. Not every athlete can make the varsity teams, although these squads are far larger than supposed.

The intramural department sponsoring interclass and inter-organization competition. Track, football, soccer, quoits, basketball, playground, swimming, wrestling, boxing, fencing, volleyball, tennis, golf and baseball are among the sports programed.

Nearly 5700 students competed in intramural sports during the 1921-1922 season. Although many of these athletes are listed in more than one sporting activity, the number taking part is a large percentage of the 6000 men students.

Facilities have hampered the work of the intramural officials as they could almost double the number of teams in meets or tournaments if they had ample space in which to play. All of the indoor sports are held in the gym annex or armory where the games must be played every night if the schedule is to be finished in time. A new gymnasium would be a great boon.

As the semi-final and final rounds of a tournament approach the spectators at the games increase and by the time the championship game is played a large crowd gathers. Rivalry between organizations adds zest and satisfaction in gained from victories won in combat against a friendly foe.

Springfield, Ill.—"I can recommend two of Dr. Pierce's remedies very highly, the Favorite Prescription and the Anuric tablets. I took the Favorite Prescription when I reached middle life and was distressed with all the ailments that come to a woman at that period, and it was a great benefit to me. Later on I was in need of a kidney medicine for I had backaches and rheumatic pains, also stiff joints, and Dr. Pierce's Anuric (for kidneys and backache) gave me great relief almost immediately. It is the best kidney remedy I have ever known and I praise it highly."

CORNERSTONE LAYING OF CLOVERLEAF LIFE BUILDING IMPRESSIVE

DEDICATORY ADDRESS BY PRESIDENT ROWE

Banquet at Noon Was Attended by Over Two Hundred — Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs Furnish Songs and "Pep"—M. L. Pontius Talks on Cornerstone of Modern Business

The cornerstone of the new Home Office building of the Cloverleaf Life & Casualty Co. was laid Friday afternoon, the ceremonies being part of the program of the Industrial Managers' Conference. This was one of the most significant events in the history of the company and of this city. The new building will be one of the most modern and spacious office buildings, erected to accommodate a single firm, located in this section of the state.

In the exhibit room which has been especially prepared as a feature of the industrial conference, hangs a large water color picture of the new building as it will appear when completed. It will be two stories in height and will extend from the Vasconcellos building to the corner on East State street and along the entire block from State to Court streets on East street.

The portion of the building now under construction is expected to be ready for occupancy by fall. The main offices will then be moved to the new quarters, and work will be started on the rest of the contemplated plant. The entire second floor of the building will be occupied by the offices of the Cloverleaf store room will occupy the ground floor.

The main feature of the cornerstone laying was the address by the president of the company, F. H. Rowe. He spoke as follows:

"There is a deep sense of responsibility resting upon any one who had to do with placing trust funds in a building like the one to be erected here—responsibility because those funds are gathered to serve people who have special needs to be ministered unto by reason of accident, disease or death. The insurance man must look to two things—a contract good enough for the money to sell, but one to the man who gives too much for his money, this will wreck the whole institution and pull the whole structure down over his head. This building must be built for service and not a monument to satisfy the pride of any one, and so I would inscribe on one face of this cornerstone, 'Built For Service.' Fortunately there is only one King Tut in this world for many hundreds of millions and he gets his name perpetuated because he is a bigger freak than the rest of the freaks. This building is for service, first by people who will pay for service, what we call rent and that is to protect the investment. Second, to serve the Cloverleaf employees so that they can render the best of service to the thousands of policy holders.

"On the other face of this cornerstone, I would inscribe, 'Build By Service.' Service is the cornerstone of every corporation's or individual's real success; they may rattle around for a little but the end will be failure. Unless an organization can render a service for humanity of which there is a demand, that corporation is a number of the ground. And I charge those who shall succeed us in the administration of this company's affairs, to inscribe these words so indelibly in the records of the company and on the tablets of their memory, that they may never be departed from. When you cannot do that, this building and this institution will become monuments to your failure.

Build By Service.
"For the individual the motto must be, 'Build By Service.' Real service is simple, not spectacular and never stings. The laying of a brick or a spade of dirt is a real service—a smile or kindly word in a moment of trouble may be a real service. There is a very profane by-word going around, 'Damn, You, Smile.' That fate is liable to come to the person who pines over the difficulties of the day. Any official who is stingy or his time or energy is doomed to failure in these days. He must build by service, persistent, overtime service. Every employee who is a clock bound and lacks a real interest in their work that makes them forget the time, will soon find the pay roll stingy with them. The Cloverleaf has many examples of men who have gone from the hundreds column to the thousands column (and mark what I say ladies) women too, by rendering an untold service.

I charge these managers and de-

men that yours is a mission of service, and by it you are building your self and your company. It is a real service to see the man, woman or child, whether they pay five cents or five dollars, get every dollar that is due and just the same service. It is an equal service to your company and every other policy holder to see that the fake disability or the attempt to get something for nothing goes unrewarded. This is a game of each for all and all for each—it is an honorable one—you are to see that it is squarely and fairly played.

"Something like fifteen years ago, some of us conceived the idea that there was a demand for a service to be rendered to those who were unfortunate by reason of accident, disease or death. We started with a single policy—a single policy holder—a very crude contract compared to what we have today. All health and accident insurance was then experimental. Jacksonville citizens took five hundred and I certainly admire their courage in taking such a policy. Eleven years ago, we were so sure we were right that one hundred thousand dollars was invested—this has now increased to two hundred fifty thousand dollars. The one dollar annual premium increased to one million dollars and there are those who will tell you that 1923 means two million coming to Jacksonville. The lone policy has company now—a hundred thousand or so in thirty states. It is so glorious thing to build that I assure you we have just started in our 'Go and Grow' progress.

Policies in Cornerstone.
"We are placing in our cornerstone, the original policy and present policies as proof of progress—the names of hundreds of employees and thousands of salesmen. Some record of the civic-religious fraternal and educational institutions of this community. The architect that plans and the contractors—the doers. If a future generation ever inspects them, may they be able to say, those men were not mere self servers, they built because they were lovers of their fellowmen.

"We are glad to have Mayor Crabtree with us today because we believe you have been rendering a real and unselfish service to this community. Many of the insurance organizations of this State started in smaller towns, are moving to larger cities and I want to say very frankly, that Jacksonville would not be the established headquarters of this Company had not this city shown evidence in recent years of a forward movement and a co-operative spirit.

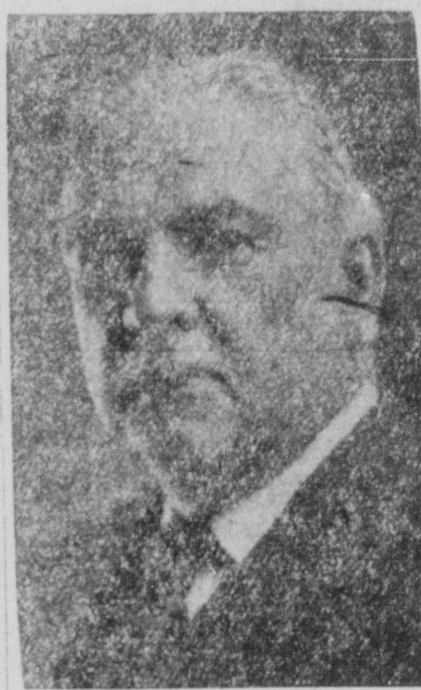

"We are glad to have Mr. Pontius with us today, a representative of the clergy and educators of the city—men who are rendering very directly, invaluable service to the community.

"We are glad to have representatives of various organizations, such as the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs—the Chamber of Commerce—Fraternal and other organizations who are organized for service. We pledge you by this cornerstone to help as well as we can in the upbuilding of our community, our state and our nation by the service we can render."

Pontius Speaks at Banquet.
About two hundred men, members of the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs, visiting Cloverleaf agents and other guests of the company attended the banquet at noon yesterday in the Odd Fellows temple. Judge H. P. Samuell, general counsel for the company, was chairman of the meeting, and introduced the various speakers in a witty and taking manner. The members of each club sang their pep songs and vied with those in the opposite camp in making the opening part of the program ring with enthusiasm.

Mayor E. E. Crabtree delivered the address of welcome. He spoke of the many good things the visitors would find in the city to interest and entertain them, and described the greater advancement in the city which they would find on their next visit to Jacksonville.

The response was made by Charles Glenn of Chicago, who thanked the mayor for his remarks and expressed the pleasure of the agents in coming to this city for their annual meeting at the home office of the company. The principal speech of the afternoon was made by Rev. M. L. Pontius, who spoke on the "Cornerstone of Modern Business." He said in part:

"During the past nine years the world has been torn to pieces. The maps and geographies we once used are now waste paper. Poland has arisen from the ruins of Russia, Austria and Germany; we now have a Czechoslovakia, a Lithuania and a Yugo-Slavia. The world has been torn to pieces politically.

"The world has been torn to pieces industrially. During the war business in all lines departed from the old established ways and from the ethical standards of the pre-war days. Four years ago, there came a sudden depression and business has since been struggling to return to the former industrial and ethical standards.

"The world has been torn to pieces financially. If you don't believe it, list to the facts: The United States faces the most gigantic and vexatious economic crisis in her history. England is in the midst of a crisis. France staggers under a debt of thirty seven billions of dollars. Germany is on the verge of a crisis. Russia has sunk into poverty and anarchy. Japan is rife with unrest. China has overthrown her Manchu dynasty of three hundred years' standing and become a republic. In fact there was never a time when men needed to discuss and ascertain the essentials that make up the cornerstone of modern business.

The Three Essentials.
"The first essential in the cornerstone is honesty. Sometime ago a man sent out a hundred letters to leading citizens throughout the country, asking what is the greatest essential in business life. Ninety out of the hundred who replied named honesty as the most important essential. The business man who exacts exorbitant and unfair profits is dishonest.

There are men who would not think of stealing from their neighbors and who live scrupulously and honest lives in their community, who would not hesitate to steal from the government or from a corporation. These men are dishonest. A man of this type went to England, where he bought a number of good razors at a low price. In order to bring them to this country, he would have to pay a heavy duty. He put a false bottom in his trunk and smuggled the razors thru the port of New York. He later sold them in his own community at a good profit, and then bragged about the way in which he had cheated the government.

"A young man once remarked that the two ways of making money in salesmanship were to sell goods and to work the expense account. That man was dishonest with his employees.

"The second essential in the cornerstone of modern business is efficiency. It is said that the average American is only twenty per cent efficient. We are twenty per cent efficient. Much of the overhead expense of business is due to inefficiency. An era of prosperity and good feeling will come to this country when men who are elected to office in all branches of the government do not seek the office, but seek to be efficient in the office.

"The third essential is co-operation. This means good will in action. You cannot hate the man whom you really know. It is wrong and childish to hate a thing and work against it just because there is someone for it whom you do not like. That kind of thing is sectarianism applied to business, and it is always injurious to the business and to the man who practices it.

"The fourth element to be emphasized is service. To live up to this requirement you should fully recognize the needs, rights and privileges of every other individual. In behalf of the members of the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs I wish for the hospitality extended to us today, and my hope is that the company may continue to prosper and grow in a most satisfactory way."

Brief History of Company.
Following the laying of the cornerstone the convention reassembled in the Odd Fellows temple, where C. Y. Rowe presided at the closing afternoon session. He first introduced George Huskinson, deputy state insurance commissioner of Springfield, who came in place of Mr. Houston, superintendent of the insurance department. Mr. Huskinson was to have been present at the banquet but the bus was stalled for an hour and a half on Riddle hill between here and Springfield delaying his arrival. He gave a brief history of the development of the Cloverleaf Casualty Co. as it is known to the state insurance department. He said in part:

The Cloverleaf Casualty company was incorporated in the year 1911, receiving its license in May, 1912, to do an accident and health business. It was organized with fifteen directors who were: Len Small, our present governor, W. C. Bradish, F. H. Rowe, C. J. Doyle, C. R. Miller, C. Y. Rowe, Sanford L. Perry, Leslie Small, G. C. Rockwood, G. H. Lane, C. E. Bradish, H. G. Rockwood, L. H. Clampt, Richard Y. Rowe and H. G. Faith. F. H. Rowe was elected president and C. Y. Rowe elected secretary. These two men are today acting in the same capacity for this company. The company was organized with a paid up capital stock of $100,000 and a surplus of $16,520. To the present date it has an authorized capital of

Made Principal Address

$250,000.00 of which $220,000 is fully paid up.

In 1918, the company changed its name from the Cloverleaf Casualty company to the Cloverleaf Life and Casualty company.

In 1919 the company applied for permission to do a life business, in addition to accident and health, and after taking the necessary steps and complying with all the laws of this state relative to life companies, it was granted authority to commence writing life insurance. In this line of business it has also been very successful. About this time it reinsured the business of the Cloverleaf Life Insurance company of Detroit, Mich. This latter company was at that time licensed in this state. In this transaction the company secured not only the business of the latter company but also the securities and assets of same. This transaction proved of great benefit to the company in giving it a good foothold in its new undertaking.

Belhimer Addresses Agents.

The last speaker for the afternoon was W. E. Belhimer of St. Louis, who delivered one of the most inspiring addresses ever heard in this city. Mr. Belhimer, who is a consulting insurance salesman, has a convincing and dramatic style of oratory. He kept his hearers spellbound for more than an hour, while vividly depicting scenes of American history and telling gripping tales of some of the prominent athletes and active men of modern America.

The speaker devoted the first part of his address to a description of the challenge and heritage which our past history holds for the American man. He told of the deeds of Paul Jones on the Bonhomme, Richard, Dewey at Manila, Faragut in Mobile bay, and Washington at Valley Forge. He then brought fear and apprehension to the minds of his listeners by pointing out that disrespect for law, the decay of home life and the increase in immorality in America are sending the nation on the downward path. These three things in the life of past nations have caused their downfall. Taken together, they were the principal marks of decay in the doomed Roman empire.

Last night the Cloverleaf agents were entertained at a party in the home office, given by the Cloverleaf Booster club. Several enjoyable stunts were given and the visitors enjoyed a pleasant evening. BRILLIANT NOVELTIES IN "LISTEN TO ME"

"Listen to Me," the smartest of musical extravaganzas and one that proved a remarkable success thruout the United States last season, is coming to the Grand next Monday night, April 16.

This delightful musical novelty offers something different in modern stagedom; first it is a metropolitan production with an excellent cast and a smart "flapper" chorus—there are half a dozen bewildering scenic effects, namely, Satan's palace, the Land of the Mid Night Sun, a miniature village in candyland, a clever scenic production as staged at the Ritz-Carlton theatre, New York City, and illumination of Broadway during the early hours of the morning. The transformations are almost beyond the imagination and the scores of effects are new and prove a revelation even in this day of modern stagecraft.

The many tuneful numbers presented by a wonderfully smart chorus include the delittes, six temptations the dance of all nations, bonbon girls in candyland, letter girls and the famous sleigh bell ballet a prancing, dancing group of bewitching femininity in fur trimmed costume dance and play a tuneful melody with the old fashioned sleigh bells attached to the ankle—smartest of the latest novelties.

The tuneful musical score by Charles George includes more than a dozen "hits"—"Listen to Me," "Where is the Girl For Me?" "The Devilish Blues," "Our Bungalow in Wintertime," "Doctor Cupid," "Oh You Kewpie Candy Doll," and "Man and His Temptations" have caught the public's fancy during the short life of this success.

SACRED IMAGE TO BE ERECTED AT HOSPITAL

"Our Saviour Pleading" Is Subject of Beautiful Figure Being Placed on Court Street Side of Our Saviour's Hospital—Is Gift of Friends of Sisters of Holy Cross

A beautiful statue is being erected on the Court street front of Our Saviour's hospital at a spot just above the new drive. The statue is the figure of "Our Saviour Pleading," and will bring to the minds of the people what the Lord said to his people of old: "I was thirsty, and ye gave me drink; hungry and ye fed me. I was a stranger, and ye took me in."

The statue is the gift of a number of friends to the sisters at the hospital. It is seven feet in height, and will stand on a four foot pedestal. This has already been built, and the figure will be mounted sometime next week. It has already arrived in the city.

The Sisters of the Holy Cross are always grateful for things given them, and deeply appreciate the kindness and generosity of their friends. A hospital brings many strangers to the city, and the beauty of its surroundings is not lost upon them. If the statue could have been erected on the State street front of the hospital, it would have been more appropriate, but in order to obtain a uniform front, it was necessary to bring the new addition forward.

However, the statue will do much to add to the attractiveness of Court street, which will be a beautiful street ere long. Good roads and streets reduce the difficulties of travel, and make possible the quick transit of patients to the hospital when this is necessary.

The firm of Helmie & Helmie, who are architects for the new addition will be glad to see the new statue added to beautify its surroundings. The firm of B. Jobst & Sons, who erected the building, will also be glad to hear of the erection of the sacred image on the grounds.

OLD RESIDENT TO CELEBRATE BIRTHDAY

Today will witness the 82nd birthday of F. M. Coard, resident of Jacksonville for 31 years and citizen of Morgan county for more than twice that length of time. Mr. and Mrs. William Spire and a number of other friends will spend the day with Mr. Coard to help make this birthday a happy one.

The gentleman whose birthday will be celebrated was born in St. Andrew's, New Brunswick, but moved to Morgan county while still quite young. He enlisted in Waverly for Civil War service and was one of Sherman's army in its triumphal march to the sea and has many stirring tales of the various campaigns in which he participated. He moved to this city in 1891 and has been a continuous resident since that time, his home being at 127 Diamond Court.

The elderly gentleman has been in failing health for some time and has not been able to walk since last August. However, he is now improving and will doubtless be able to enjoy the lovely spring weather that is expected any day now.

CLUB WOMEN TO HEAR LECTURE ON BIRDS

Women's Club Members to Hear Address by J. C. T. E. Musselman at High School Auditorium This Afternoon.

A rare treat is in store for members of the Jacksonville Woman's Club and their guests this afternoon, when they are to hear a lecture by Prof. T. E. Musselman of Quincy. The speaker is an ornithologist of some prominence and will give a stereoscopic lecture, illustrating various phases of bird life in an interesting and instructive manner.

The meeting will be held at the high school auditorium at 2:30 o'clock and it is hoped that there will be a large attendance. The program has been arranged by the conservation committee of the Woman's Club, the committee members being Mrs. W. T. Scott, chairman; Miss Anne Jackson, Miss Harriet Seibert, Mrs. Clarence Massey and Mrs. Raymond Vasey.

The program will include some special musical numbers, one of which will be a violin selection by Frederick G. Meyers of the School for the Blind.

Prof. Musselman in his lecture this afternoon will give the why and wherefore of nearly all the little things that birds do. He will tell why some birds hunt during the day while others choose the night time to search for their food. He will tell why some birds' eggs are round while others are oval in shape, why some are speckled and others not, and, in short, will give the facts about many little known phases of bird life.

Prof. Musselman has but recently returned from a stay of six weeks on a big plantation in Georgia, which was at one time owned by Mark Hanna. He went on this banding expedition as a representative of the University of Illinois, and during the forty days captured more than 4,000 birds.

The slides which will be shown today are all the property of Prof. Musselman and were made by him during the southern expedition. This is a different set of slides from those shown at Illinois college last night and treat of entirely different phases of bird life from those discussed last night.

Following the lecture a brief time will be spent socially and refreshments will be served in the domestic science rooms at the high school. The hostesses of the afternoon will be Mrs. William Floreth, Mrs. Joseph Jackson and Mrs. J. T. Gunn.

All who desire guest tickets may secure the same at the door.

ENTERTAIN 46 BOYS AT CHURCH BANQUET

Grace Church Bible Class Give Boys a Jolly Time Friday Evening—Feed, Songs, Stories and Games Are Order of Program

About eighty-five men and boys gathered Friday evening for a banquet and program at Grace church. The banquet was given by the Men's Bible class for the benefit of the boys, who are not regular attendants of the Sunday schools and churches of the city. About forty-five boys, ranging in age from ten to fourteen years, were present, and all thoroughly enjoyed the entertainment prepared for them.

The banquet was served by Miss Lucile Straight's circle of ladies of the church. Following the supper, J. W. Brecken called the meeting to order. After the singing of the "Battle Hymn of the Republic" and "America" by the audience, Mrs. Mamie Rataichak gave a number of readings, "How the duckey got his ears," was the first one, and another was entitled "Bud discusses cleanliness." This was followed with an address by J. H. Dial, and a violin duet by Beaumont Potter and Wendell Rawlings, accompanied by Mrs. Homer Potter on the piano. Stories were then told the boys by A. C. Cody and Hugh Green.

The program was closed with a social time. The boys played games and did stunts. This part of the entertainment was in charge of B. F. Lane and A. G. Cody.

HOTEL CAMPAIGN GOAL IS NEARLY REACHED

Total Reported Last Night Is $198,900—Workers Will Go After More Subscriptions—Final Meeting Wednesday Night

Eleven hundred dollars is needed to complete the $200,000 hotel fund. This was the fact made known last night when the workers gathered for another conference and some new pledges were reported.

Subscriptions have not come in rapidly in recent days, but most of the team members have not been able to devote much time to the work. Now, however, there is the definite goal of finishing the job by next Wednesday night in a meeting which is to be held for reports from further solicitation.

As mentioned before, the committee must take into account some shrinkage of pledges and any excess secured between now and Wednesday will be applied upon that shrinkage. If the amount thus secured is not sufficient to cover the sum figured as an average shrinkage, then some other plan of making good the amount will be worked out.

M. F. Dunlap in speaking of the close of the campaign, said last night that just a few days more work will certainly put the fund to the needed point and make some provision for the shortage. It was suggested by Mr. Dunlap that the campaign had been carried along with everybody in a happy frame of mind and that there would be no differences of opinion as to the best way of taking care of the shrinkage, and that without doubt a satisfactory system will be adopted.

Chairman King urged the team captains to get in touch with their workers and to make the final effort for securing the needed pledges in the course of the next few days.

New Subscriptions Subscriptions reported last night were as follows:

WAVELY MARRIAGE

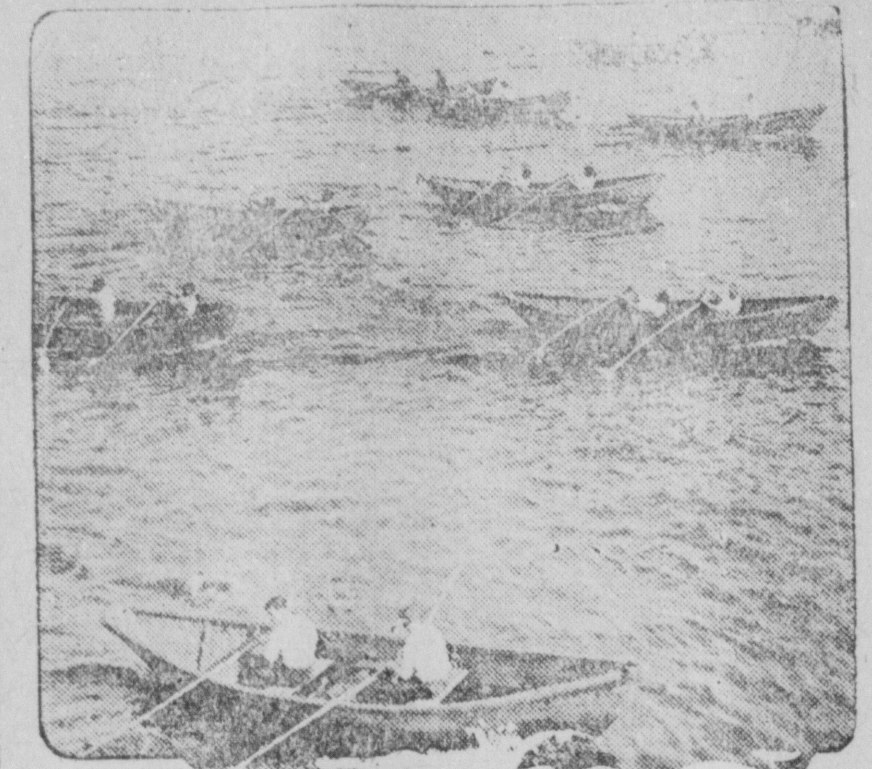

STORY NOT TRUE

The Journal recently received a typewritten letter mailed from Waverly, stating that Miss Corinne Burnett and Mr. Pierce Jones, both of Waverly, had surprised their friends by slipping away to Hannibal, Mo., to be married. The news story was printed in good faith and it now develops that the marriage did not occur. Neither Miss Burnett nor Mr. Jones have been away from Waverly, and they are at loss to know which one of their alleged friends sent the story to the press.

The Journal very much regrets that it gave publicity to this incorrect report.

MYERS BROTHERS

BELIEVES PROSPECT FAIR FOR FEEDERS

A. A. Curry Getting 300 Head of Cattle and 600 Head of Hogs Ready for Market.

There are not many Morgan county stockmen who continuously engage in cattle feeding. However, one of this group is A. A. Curry, who now has about 300 head of cattle on his big farm in Pleasant precinct. Mr. Curry is also feeding about 600 head of hogs.

Of the total number of cattle seventy-five are on full feed and are getting all the corn and other rations that they can consume. Mr. Curry has unusually heavy blue grass pasture and handles it continuously in a way to keep the grass in strong succulent condition. As a result he sends his grass cattle to market about a month or six weeks ahead of the rush of grass fed stock and is able to secure a better price than would otherwise be true.

Mr. Curry said recently that too often farmers neglect their pasture land or rather keep too much stock on it. The result of having grass continuously eaten off close to the ground is that the grass becomes thinner and the land is impoverished just as is true if too many crops are planted without paying due attention to rotation or in some other way fertilizing the land.

Mr. Curry's record as a cattle feeder is unusual and it is known that he has found the shipping of both fat and grass fed cattle a profitable business throughout the years. It is a business which requires experience, discretion and courage, for a stock man who goes wrong in buying or who does not give his cattle proper care, or who makes a mistake at the time of marketing is very sure to lose instead of make money. So a successful feeder must take all these things into account.

Just at present Mr. Curry has about 600 head of hogs on the farm and while he is not anticipating any great increase in prices for hogs, he does believe that it is possible to feed corn at the present price and still play safe.

NOTED BIRD MAN SPEAKS AT COLLEGE

A highly instructive and very entertaining lecture on birds and their habits was delivered last night by Professor T. E. Musselman in the Jones Memorial building at Illinois college. Prof. Musselman is a noted authority on bird life and holds a master's degree in ornithology from the University of Illinois.

The lecture was delivered with the aid of a set of absolutely new slides, admirably portraying the life and habits of many varieties of birds. Some of these slides were quite unique, as well as beautiful. The speaker has made a life study of birds and was for a time engaged in government bird work in Georgia. He will address the Jacksonville Woman's Club this afternoon. However, today's talk will be entirely different from that of last night.

A number of sportsmen offered the professor $25,000 to determine whether or not a closed season on quail would increase the number of quail, as some people held argument that diseases would kill practically as many quail each year as are killed by hunters. He refused the offer as this would require about three years' study on quail.

Mr. Musselman is a teacher in the Gem City Business college at Quincy, Ill., and has the study of birds as an avocation.

Miss B. Aiken Tells How Cuticura Healed Eczema

"When I was about fourteen years of age my face, arms and scalp broke out with eczema. It started with little pimples and blisters which spread rapidly. I could not stand any clothing on my arms, and my face was disfigured. My scalp itched and burned so that I could not sleep, and my hair became dry and lifeless and fell out in handfuls.

I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a sample. It helped me so I purchased more, and after using three cakes of Soap and three boxes of Ointment I was healed." (Signed) Miss Burness Aiken, Lyndon, Kansas.

Daily use of Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Talcum helps to prevent skin troubles.
